LIT 6900: Reading for Comprehensive Exams

1-6 credits

(Prerequisite: by permission of Department. This course is a requirement for MA and MAT students electing to pursue the comprehensive exam option. It may be repeated for credit, if necessary.)

Spring 2014

Instructor: Professor Mark Scroggins

Office: CU 357

Office Hours: M/W/F 11-1, and by appointment

Office Phone: 561-297-3561

E-mail: mscroggi@fau.edu

Course Description:

This course is designed to give graduate students who have elected to pursue the comprehensive exam option rigorous guidance in preparing for that exam.

Course Objectives:

Over the course of this semester, you will work your way through at least half of the reading list for your comprehensive exam. It is assumed that you have already encountered many of the texts on your reading list in your coursework, but you will revisit those texts with the same care you devote to the unfamiliar items on your list. By the end of the semester, you will be prepared to be examined on the texts that you and your exam committee have agreed to focus on.

Course Evaluation Method:

This course is graded S/U. You are expected to meet with your exam chair on a weekly basis over the course of the semester, including an initial orientational meeting (except as provided for in university policy, as stated in relevant Provost's memoranda: <http://www.fau.edu/provost/files/religious2011.pdf> and <https://www.fau.edu/provost/files/studentabsences.pdf>.) You should keep in close touch with your chair about the progress of your reading. At the end of the semester, you will meet with your full exam committee and discuss your progress. It is highly recommended that you keep a reading journal, as well as copious notes, so that you can document your reading. If at that time the committee deems that you are making satisfactory progress towards a successful exam, you will receive an "S." Your advisor will determine your credit hours.

Required Texts/Readings:

The reading for this course will consist of the works on your exam reading list, which includes between 20 and 25 works of literature and 5 to 10 secondary readings. Over the course of this semester, you will cover approximately half of the reading list, as detailed in the schedule. Your full reading list is attached at the end of this syllabus.

ADA and Academic Integrity Statements:

University Disability Policy Statement: In compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), students who require special accommodation due to a disability to properly execute course work must register with the Office of Students with Disabilities (OSD) – in Boca Raton, SU 133 (561-297-3880); in Davie, LA 240 (954-236-1222); in Jupiter, SR 110 (561-799-8010) – and follow all OSD procedures.

Code of Academic Integrity Statement: Students at Florida Atlantic University are expected to maintain the highest ethical standards. Academic dishonesty is considered a serious breach of these ethical standards, because it interferes with the University mission to provide a high quality education in which no student enjoys an unfair advantage over any other. Academic dishonesty is also destructive of the University community, which is grounded in a system of mutual trust and places high value on personal integrity and individual responsibility. Harsh penalties are associated with academic dishonesty. For more information, consult the Code of Academic Integrity in the University Regulations:

http://www.fau.edu/regulations/chapter4/4.001_Code_of_Academic_Integrity.pdf.
