

Summary of Curriculum Changes in The School of Architecture

Over the last two years, the faculty of the School of Architecture have undertaken a curriculum review to determine where we are succeeding, and where we might improve delivery of knowledge. One component of this review was to update the course descriptions for all 6 of the Design Studio courses in order to better align with the pedagogical goals of the program.

The following courses have new course descriptions, and are being submitted to the UUPC and the GPC for approval:
