

Constitution Day Events

– FAU will present a series of events to commemorate Constitution Day. These events will be culminated with a public lecture by Distinguished Professor

Robert Talisse of Vanderbilt University on Friday, September 16, noon – 2 pm in the Grand Palm Room of the Student Union Building.

Sponsored by the Jack Miller Forum, the Dean of Students, the Dean of Undergraduate Studies, New Student and Owl Family Programs and the Department of Political Science.

CONSTITUTION DAY EVENTS

Tuesday, September 13, noon – 2 pm

House Chambers, Student Union Building

Students will read essays submitted for the Jack Miller Forum Constitution Day Essay Contest. All essays will focus on the constitution. The rewards for the two winning essays will be presented.

Wednesday, September 14, noon – 2 pm

Majestic Palm Room A, Student Union Building

A diverse group of faculty will make brief presentations on the constitution relating to his/her current research or teaching agenda. Faculty include Marina Banchetti (Department of Philosophy), Carlos Dias (College of Education), Mirya Holman (Department Political Science), Fred Fejas (School of Communication and Multimedia Studies), Timothy Lenz (Department of Political Science), and William Trapani (School of Communication and Multimedia Studies).

Thursday, September 15, noon – 2 pm

House Chambers, Student Union Building

Distinguished Professor Robert Talisse teaches philosophy and political science at Vanderbilt University. He will conduct a workshop for undergraduate students which will discuss how his research, among other things, relates to the constitution. Professor Talisse's major research areas are democracy and American philosophy.

Friday, September 16, noon – 2 pm

Grand Palm Room, Student Union Building

Professor Robert Talisse will deliver a major university-wide lecture in commemoration of Constitution Day. This lecture is open to the entire university community and the public.

For more information about Constitution Day Events, call Professor Clevis Headley at 561-297-2928 or e-mail headley@fau.edu.