Annual Conference of the CSSA at Florida Atlantic University

Crossings & Intersections
April 08 – 09, 2016
(submission deadline: January 15, 2016)

The Comparative Studies Student Association (CSSA) at Florida Atlantic University invites academic submissions for the 2016 CSSA conference in Boca Raton, FL. The CSSA is an association of doctoral students in Comparative Studies, which is an interdisciplinary program. Entering students must already have earned a Master's degree and, while in the program, design uniquely individual programs of study, within generally common theoretical frameworks. Current students have concentrations in a variety of disciplines from the Humanities and Communication Studies, with an emphasis on Cultures, Languages and Literatures.

CONFERENCE THEME
Our annual conferences reflect our program’s interdisciplinarity, with specific annual themes that help to narrow the focus. This year’s theme is no different: Crossings & Intersections touches on hybridity, “osmosis,” cross-pollination, intersectionality, and intertextuality...
