

M.Ed. Educational Psychology

Florida Atlantic University

Committed to Teaching, Research
& Service

Boca Raton • Davie
Jupiter Campuses

The master's degree in Educational Psychology equips students to apply psychology in educational settings and conduct research in education. A master's degree in Educational Psychology is an extremely versatile degree that is valuable for all educators, including teachers and administrators, seeking to further their understanding of: (a) student learning and effective instruction; (b) motivation, self-regulation, and self-efficacy; and (c) human cognitive, social, and personal development; and (d) peer cultures and peer aggression.

The degree is additionally valuable for persons seeking employment in school districts and other educationally related organizations or may be used for entry into an educational psychology doctorate program for a career in a university setting. This graduate degree does not lead to certification in any area.

- Examine Theoretical and Applied Aspects of Learning and Cognition, Human Development and Motivation
- Open to all Undergraduate Majors

Florida Atlantic University
College of Education
Department of Teaching & Learning
777 Glades Road., P.O. Box 3091
Boca Raton, FL 33431-3091

Phone: 561-297-6595
Fax: 561-297-2925
E-mail: deptteachlearn@fau.edu www.coe.fau.edu/academicdepartments/tl

Preparing informed, capable and ethical practitioners who are reflective decision-makers

NOTICE: Copies of this publication can be obtained in an alternate format by contacting the College of Education/Department of Teaching and Learning at deptteachlearn@fau.edu or 561-297-6595. This publication is available in standard print, Braille, or electronically for people with disabilities. Please allow at least 10 days to process this request.