

CONSTRUCTION ANNOUNCEMENT

Construction is anticipated to start on the new FAU CULTURE AND SOCIETY BUILDING.

The building will house general classrooms, and selected departments in the College of Arts & Letters to include, the English Department, Language, Linguistics and Comparative Studies, Sociology and the School of Communication & Multi media Studies, and the Living Room Theaters (LRT), which is a cutting-edge presenter of digital cinema from around the world. LRT, in a unique partnership with FAU's Multimedia Studies Program, will offer first-run cinema attractions evenings and weekends, while FAU offers classes in multimedia film and video during daytime hours.

As this project gets under way, the construction fencing will displace some existing parking spaces in lot 23 located south of the Dorothy F. Schmidt College of Arts & Letters – Performing Arts Building (PA51). The displaced disabled parking spaces will be relocated immediately south of the construction fencing with accessible pathways leading to adjacent sidewalks. It is anticipated that prior to the start of the fall term, a temporary parking lot will provide additional parking for the displaced spaced in lot 23.

The Performing Arts Building (PA51) will remain fully accessible during construction. The fenced in area will be bounded by Performing Arts (PA51) to the north, Palm Beach Ave to the east, the parking lot cross driveway to the south and Brevard court to the west.
