Studying at Aalto University School of Business is a challenging and exciting opportunity to enrich one’s academic knowledge and professional skills. Every year the school hosts close to 500 international students, totaling 12% of the student body.

Finland is the sixth largest country in Europe, but with 5.4 million people the population density is low. There are still large areas of untouched nature and hundreds of thousands of lakes – Finland is 70% forest. But, Finland is much more than a nature wonderland; it is a high-tech country and best known for the world’s leading mobile phone company, Nokia.
