Academic Program: The Wilkes Honors College summer program makes its home in Spain’s largest and most prestigious university, the Universidad Complutense de Madrid. Located in Spain’s capital city, the program includes tours, museum visits, and other cultural activities in and around Madrid as well as Toledo, Segovia and Granada. The program offers an interdisciplinary course based on the political and social impact of the Spanish Civil War in a European setting, and the implications of this tragic event in current Spanish society. National and foreign perceptions of the war by Lorca, Hemingway, Orwell, among others, will be combined with films, documentaries, local guest speakers and visits to sites related to the topic. Students will be lodged in Residencia Universitaria Galdós; a modern and comfortable residence located 15-20 minutes walking distance from campus.

Eligibility Requirements: Program is open to undergraduate and graduate students (honors and non-honors) with a GPA of 3.0 or higher. Non-honors students must gain permission from faculty leader.

Courses (students must take two courses):
- *IDS 3932 is a mandatory course for this program and will require students to attend classes on the Jupiter campus Fri., June 24 (includes pre-departure orientation), Mon., June 27, and Tues., June 28.
