The goal is to enhance and focus students' ongoing or future efforts in communication-related professions or activities or to prepare them for doctoral studies and/or academic careers. University Graduate Program Committee

Re: SCMS MA Communication Program Change

Please accept the following as an addendum which explains the rationale for the program change under consideration to the School of Communication and Multimedia Studies’ MA in Communication:

We seek changes to our admission deadlines and requirements.

The changes in admission deadlines dates (from July 1 to March 1 for Fall term and from November 1 to October 1 for Spring term) are requested in order to best position our program relative to other MA programs so that we encourage the best possible candidates to apply and be considered for admission earlier than with the present deadlines.

The changes to the requirements are, for the most part, minor clarifications on existing requirements. These are intended to provide the candidates additional guidance in preparing materials or in knowing what the School looks for in its ideal candidates. We have added the requirement of a writing sample to add additional data for consideration of the candidate’s file. A writing sample provides a realistic assessment of a candidate’s potential and will help the admission committee make the best choices in its acceptance and funding decisions.

If you have any questions about the proposed changes please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

William Trapani, Ph.D.
