Elimination of qualifying paper and addition of Epistemology and Methodology comprehensive exam area.

5. Candidates must pass exams in three of the four paths of study.
6. Candidates must successfully complete and defend a qualifying paper.
7. Candidates are expected to participate in professional practica and colloquia, attend dissertation defenses and conferences and participate in collegial activities.

5. Candidates must pass comprehensive exams in four of the five paths of study including a mandatory exam in Epistemology and Methodology.
6. Candidates are expected to participate in professional practica and colloquia, attend dissertation defenses and conferences and participate in collegial activities.

Hugh Miller, hmill@fau.edu, 74149