EXCITING VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITY: READ A RECIPE FOR LITERACY

El Sol Jupiter’s Neighborhood Resource Center hosts the Read a Recipe for Literacy Program, which promotes literacy and education in a novel and engaging way. Targeting children ages 7-12, Read a Recipe for Literacy (RRL) develops communication skills—and so much more. The children are challenged to talk about and write recipes for all manner of things: how to prepare a hurricane salad, how to repair a bicycle, how to run a good town. We’re talking recipes for living and all this happens while having fun.

The program is held once a week, Tuesday or Thursday, from 6:00pm until 9:00pm Location: El Sol Jupiter’s Neighborhood Resource Center, 106 Military Trail, Jupiter, Florida The founder of Read a Recipe for Literacy will train and work with the lucky volunteer of the much-awaited 2016 Spring-Summer Session.

Interested in working with others? Interested in learning about Read a Recipe for Literacy?

Contact Mary Jo Weinig at mjm95@columbia.edu