STALKING

a pattern of repeated unwanted contact causing fear or concern

SURVEILLANCE • INVASION
INTIMIDATION • INTERFERENCE

“Minor” stalking behaviors can quickly escalate to dangerous behaviors.

Take ALL stalking seriously.

FACT: The greatest predictor of physical harm is gut instinct.
Trust yourself.

All incidences of unwanted contact

If you feel unsafe in your home, keep an emergency bag packed with these items:

FACT: Stalkers are usually someone the victim knows. Most often a current or former intimate partner

- ✓ Contact information for location you can stay
- ✓ Cell phone & charger
- ✓ Spare cash
- ✓ Keys
- ✓ Driver's license or other ID
- ✓ Copy of restraining order
- ✓ Birth certificate, social security card, immigration papers, etc.
- ✓ Medications
- ✓ Change of clothes
- ✓ Valuables you can carry
- ✓ Essentials for children if you have any (formula, diapers, papers)

To Law Enforcement – report early and often to establish a pattern.

To Victim Services – on campus to connect you with resources such as housing accommodations, class rescheduling, etc.

To Family & Friends – make sure they do not accidentally disclose your information to the stalker.
