PROPOSED

Florida Atlantic University

Regulation 4.007  Student Code of Conduct

(1) Statement of Philosophy.

Florida Atlantic University is a public university committed through its distributed campus structure to providing access to challenging opportunities in higher education for students in Southeast Florida and beyond. Its mission is to serve its region, state, and nation by preparing students to make meaningful contributions in an increasingly complex global society, by encouraging reflection on and evaluation of emerging needs and priorities, and by supporting research and service that enhances economic, human, and cultural development.

Florida Atlantic University is a public research university with multiple campuses along the southeast Florida coast serving a uniquely diverse community. It promotes academic and personal development, discovery and lifelong learning. FAU fulfills its mission through excellence and innovation in teaching, outstanding research and creative activities, public engagement and distinctive scientific and cultural alliances, all within an environment that fosters inclusiveness.

FAU accomplishes its mission primarily through its students, teachers and researchers, its undergraduate educational programs, its graduate and professional offerings, and its linkages to other educational institutions and in the community.

The University’s Student Code of Conduct is an integral part of the educational mission of the University, emphasizing the development of each individual’s acceptance of his or her own personal and social responsibilities, and to ensure fairness and due process the satisfaction of certain minimum requirements described in this regulation for all students. Since behavior which is not in keeping with standards acceptable to the University eCommunity is often symptomatic of attitudes, misconceptions, and emotional crises, reeducation and rehabilitative activities are an essential elements of the student conduct disciplinary process.

A humanistic approach is employed. The University’s Student Code of Conduct is designed to provide and help maintain an atmosphere within the University eCommunity that is conducive to academic pursuits. Serious action against a student, such as separation, is considered and invoked only when other remedies fail to meet the needs of the University’s mission.
The University, however, recognizes its responsibilities to all members of the academic community — students, faculty, and staff, and the protection of personal and institutional rights and property is a primary focus of the process described in this Regulation 4.007.

(2) Principles.

The University principles address the respect for the law, regulations and policies, and the respect for people.

(a) Respect for the Law. Students are expected to respect and obey all regulations and policies of the University and all local, state and federal laws. If regulations, policies or laws are considered to be unfair or improper, it is expected that students will use appropriate, established, and lawful procedures to effect change.

(b) Respect for Self and Others. Students are expected to conduct themselves in a manner which exemplifies respect for people of all races, religions, and ethnic groups, and to adhere to one's personal values without unduly imposing them on others. Respect for one's own mind and body, is essential. In interpersonal relationships, students are expected to respect the rights of others, particularly their right to refuse to participate in any activity. Students should take responsibility to serve as leaders in promoting compassion for others and challenging prejudice.

All students enrolled in the University Community, regardless of institutional or program affiliation, are expected to know and adhere to the regulations and policies of the University, as well as local, state, and federal laws.
