b. “FAU ADVANCE Overview” by Frankie Laanan

Dr. Frankie Santos Laanon along with Dr. Russ Ivy presents on the Advance IT-Catalyst: Transforming Faculty Gender Diversity at FAU.

The National Science Foundation (NSF) ADVANCE program is designed to foster gender equity through a focus on the identification and elimination of organizational barriers that impede the full participation and advancement of all women faculty in academic institutions.

Research has shown that women’s representation and advancement in academic STEM positions are affected by many external factors that are unrelated to their ability, interest, and technical skills, such as organizational constraints of academic institutions; differential effects of work and family demands; implicit and explicit bias; and underrepresentation of women in academic leadership and decision-making positions.

The goals of ADVANCE program include to develop systemic approaches to increase the representation and advancement of women in academic STEM careers and to develop innovative and sustainable ways to promote gender equity that involve both men and women in the STEM academic workplace. In addition, to contribute to the research knowledge base on gender equity and the intersection of gender and other identities in STEM academic careers.

The Institutional Transformation-Catalyst supports assessment activities at institutions of higher education, such as basic data collection and analysis and the review of relevant policies and procedures, to provide the foundation necessary to undertake institutional transformation.

FAU was awarded $259,519 from September 1st, 2016 through August 31st, 2019.

FAU will implement an ADVANCE Institutional Transformation-Catalyst project to undertake institutional self-assessment activities and pilot best practices from ADVANCE institutions.

FAU will administer baseline and follow-up surveys of tenure track and non-tenure track faculty, conduct an institutional policy review, review ADVANCE best practices, choose practices to pilot, and evaluate these strategies using institutional and survey data.
ADVANCE will include a leadership Team as well as an Internal Advisory Committee (IAC).

The Faculty Worklife Survey at FAU 2017 is a modified online survey based on the University of Wisconsin-Madison “Study of Faculty Worklife Survey” at UW-M.

The closed-and open-ended questions include: hiring process, promotion & tenure, collaboration, workload, diversity & climate, sexual harassment, hostile work environment, satisfaction with FAU, and demographics.
