What does “Ready to Hang” mean?

Students must consider the presentation of their pieces before arriving to submit works. We highly encourage a “test hang” of the works to see what will be the best solution to the piece. Any hardware other than screws – push-pins, nails, t-pins, magnets, etc. must be provided with instructions on how the piece should be installed.

The gallery reserves the discretion to disqualify entries based on inadequate hanging apparatus or if no instructions/hardware are left for the pieces. While the gallery staff is willing to assist in the process of learning the correct submission process, they will not tolerate lengthy consultations on how an artwork should be displayed. The presentation of an artwork must be considered by the artist ahead of time based on the concept and/or aesthetics of the work.

All works must be “Ready to Hang”
