

What is Arts Integration?

What is a Teaching Artist?

To inform artists, arts students and faculty about the educational theory and practice of Arts Integration, and the role of Teaching Artists in K-12 schools and other educational settings, Cynthia Word is visiting FAU to present an informal lecture about her artistic practice and accomplishments, and her work as a teaching artist. Word employs arts education and arts integration methods learned from training at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, Washington, D.C. and Lincoln Center, New York City as well as other arts organizations committed to improving arts education and arts access. Word is the founder and artistic director of Word Dance Theatre, a Washington D.C. area dance company.
