

EXAMINATION FOR FOREIGN LANGUAGE PROFICIENCY

Student is given a passage, written in the language selected below at the first-year college level, and is expected to complete an English translation in a maximum of two hours with the help of a print self-provided dictionary, but not any kind of electronic tool or resource. In order to pass the exam, student translates the entire passage, with no gaps or omissions, and with an absolute minimum of grammatical or other errors which obscure or misrepresent the content of the original passage. No student failing the exam is allowed to retake it. Student passing the exam satisfies the Foreign Language Exit Requirement and does not receive credits. Student takes the exam in the testing room of the Department of Languages, Linguistics, and Comparative Literature (LLCL), which is located in CU 232 and is operating Mondays to Fridays from 8:30 to 5:00. After obtaining advisor's approval, student stops by or calls LLCL at 561 297 3860 to schedule an appointment. Typically within two weeks after taking the exam, student is notified with the results via e-mail. The Registrar's Office as well is notified with student's results to update student's record.

Student fills in the top section and obtains the approval of an advisor from his/her college to take the exam before scheduling an appointment with LLCL. Student holds on to this form and submits it to LLCL at the time of examination. No student is allowed to take the exam without this form and/or advisor's signature.
