As FAU's national reputation as an emerging leader in theatre and entertainment education grows, I am thrilled to announce the establishment of our new Musical Theatre Program. We kick off the program this season with "9 to 5" and "The 25th Annual Putnam County Spelling Bee," to be performed in the newly renovated University Theatre. This is only one of the exciting developments as we look to a season full of culturally rich and engaging programs, all of which would not be possible without you, our patrons and friends. Your attendance and support of our events assure that our faculty and student research and creative endeavors receive the attention they deserve. And so we thank you, and we look forward to seeing you soon.

THREADS, FOLDS, & RABBIT HOLES

SCHMIDT CENTER GALLERY

July 5 - September 23, 2023

Opening Reception: August 31, 2023, 6:30 pm

fau.edu/galleries

Image: Kristy Deetz, (detail), Rabbit & Kitty Boy Escape The Postmodern Radar, from the Through the Veil series, 2013, acrylic on stretched canvas, Image courtesy of the artist.

Threads, Folds, & Rabbit Holes presents a series of mixed media paintings with embroidery and digital manipulation by Kristy Deetz featuring an evocative Rabbit as its central character. Alluding to Lewis Carroll's Through the Looking-Glass and many other traditional narratives, this series of figurative abstractions on fabric good-humoredly deconstruct imagery from pop, outsider, and high culture to create new spaces of meaning from familiar imagery. The shape-shifting Rabbit is positioned in front of or behind; it looks into, out, around, or between images, holes, and windows. It also visits every U.S. holiday in a nostalgic meditation on mortality and life's transience. The paintings use dark humor, visual puns, historical allusions, cultural collisions, and spiritual conundrums to play with meaning, creating a surreal fairy tale. With a cameo by artist Evelyn Politzer.

OVERFLOWS

RITTER ART GALLERY

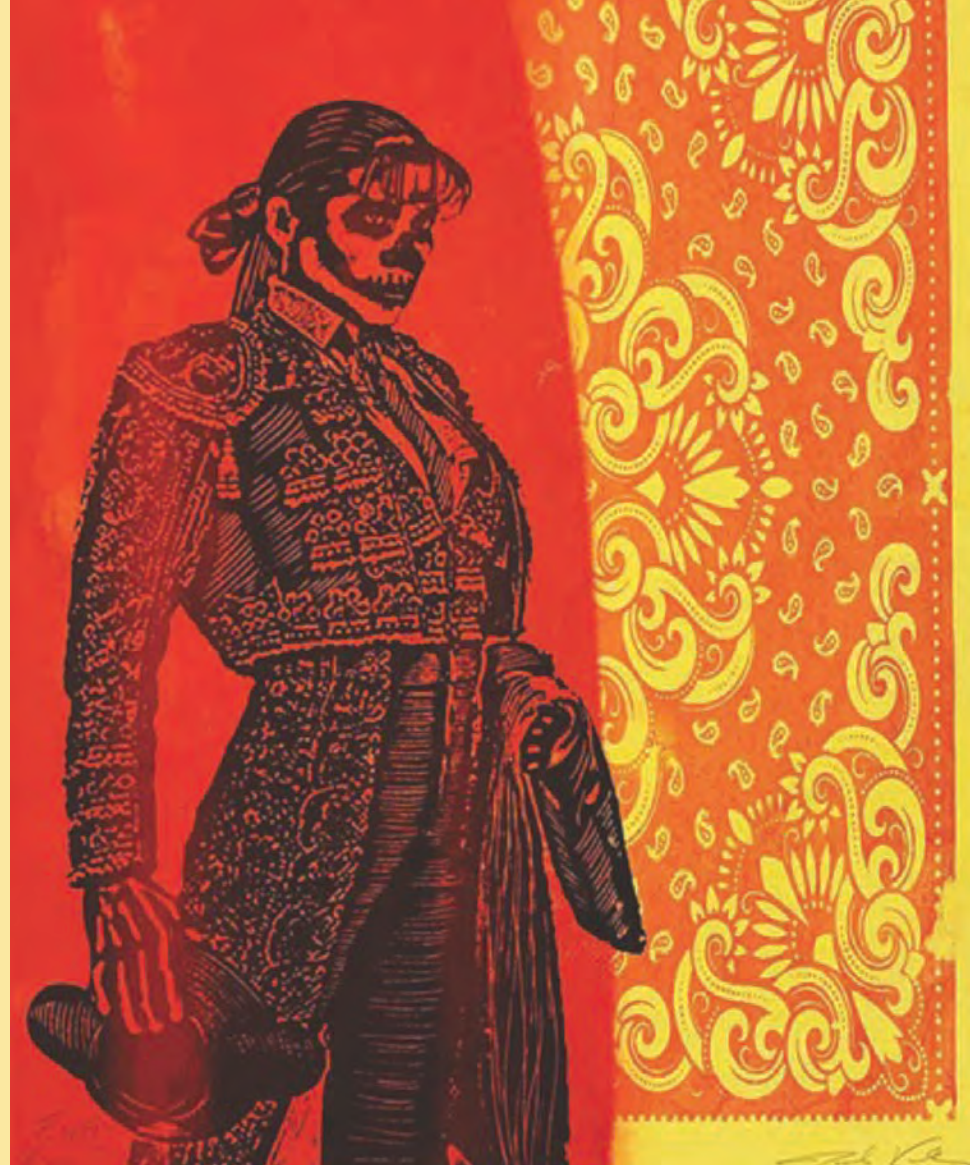

August 14 - October 28, 2023

Opening Reception: August 31, 2023, 6:30 pm

Curator Veronique Côté brings together three South Florida fiber artists in this study of water's political, aesthetic, and economic qualities. Using inherently soft materials - yarn, felt, roving, and thread - Michelle Drummond, Evelyn Politzer, and Andrea Spiridonakos create works that pack a hard punch. Looking to convey "nature's plea for interconnectedness" (Politzer) or sensitize us to the inequalities and privileges around access to natural resources (Drummond), these three creators use water as a theme, a tool, a political issue, or a metaphor for movement, power, balance, and flow. fau.edu/galleries

SOME WERE NEIGHBORS

SCHMIDT CENTER GALLERY PUBLIC SPACE

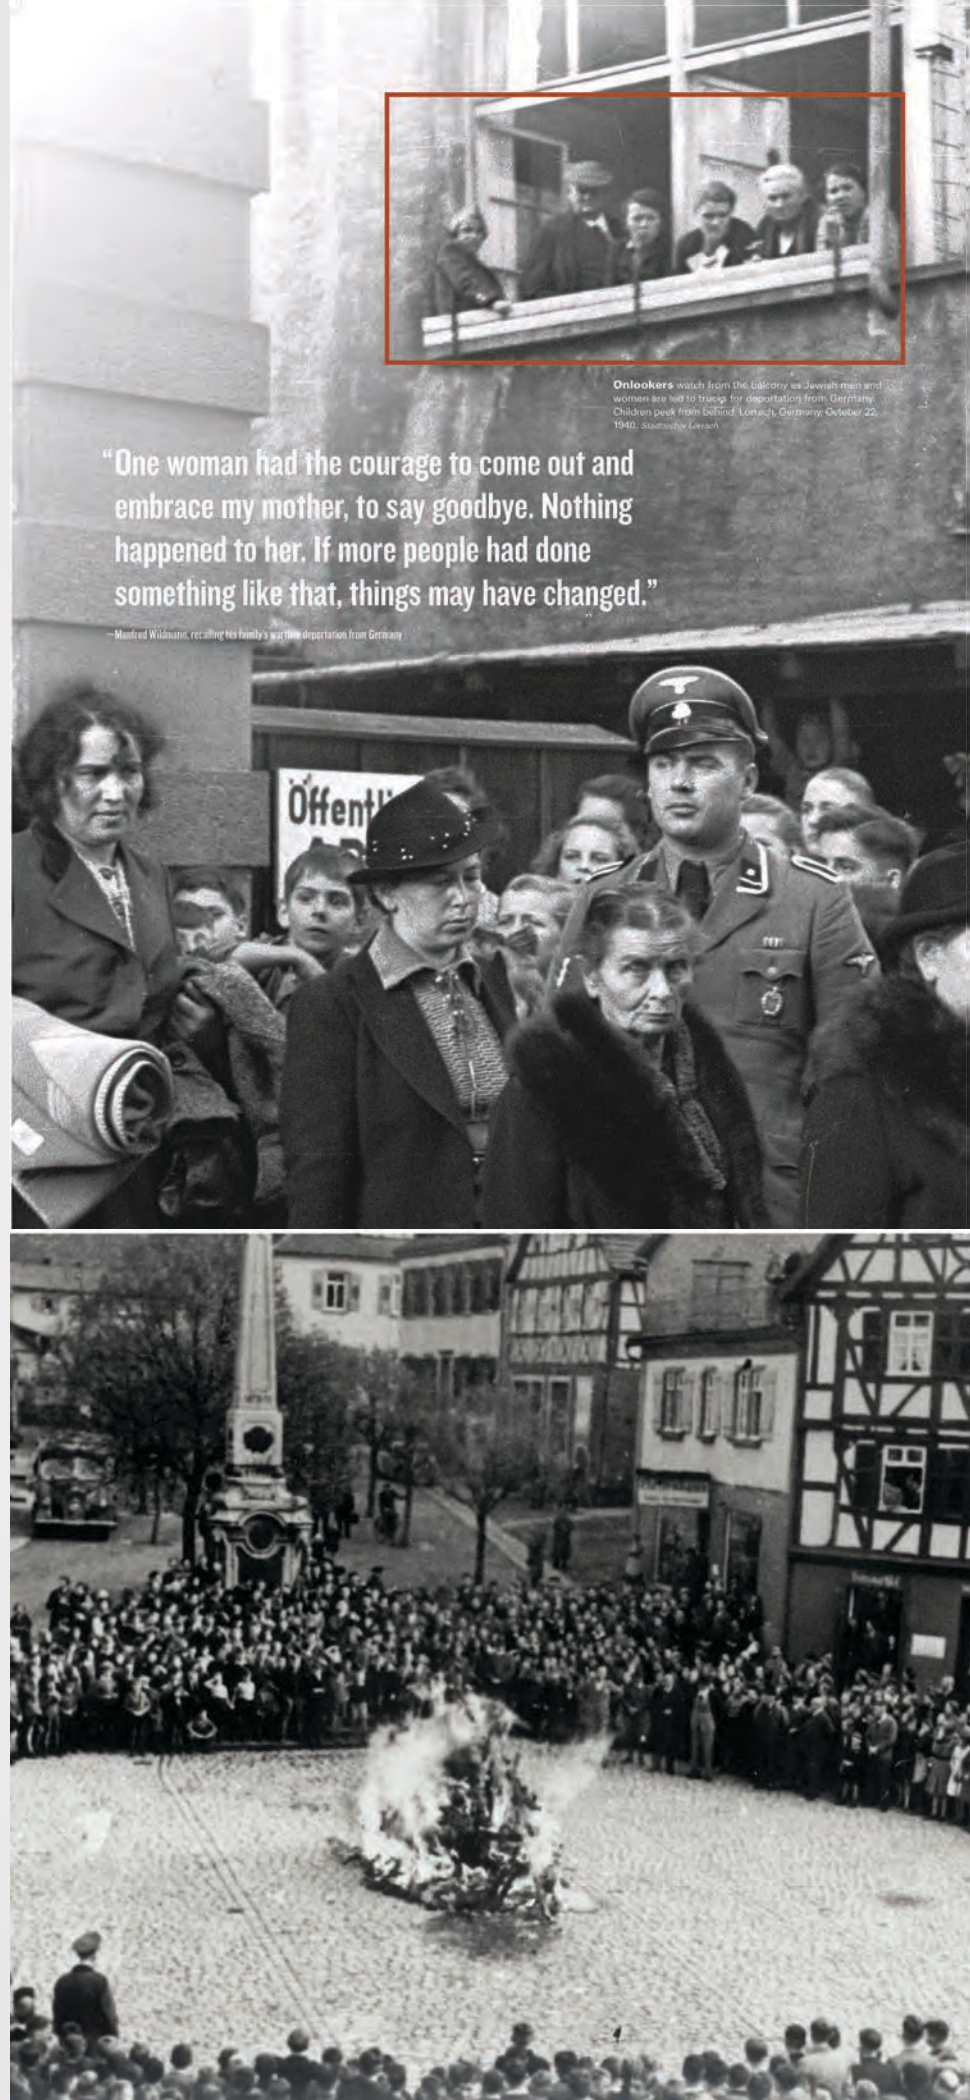

October 5 - October 28, 2023

Opening Reception: October 5, 2023, 6:30 pm

Some Were Neighbors is a traveling poster exhibition curated by the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum (USHMM). The exhibition examines the role of ordinary people during the Holocaust. The central role of Adolf Hitler and other Nazi leaders is indisputable, but they depended on countless others. Why were there some zealous participants in the persecution of Jews, while most simply went along or joined in? Why did so few help the victims? This poster series examines the motives and pressures that influenced the choices and behaviors of individuals during the Holocaust.

DAVID LEVINTHAL: CURVEBALL: SPORTS & AMERICAN MYTHS

SCHMIDT CENTER GALLERY

January 11 - March 23, 2024

Opening Reception: January 11, 2024, 6:30 pm

Populated with toy figurines of quintessential sports icons, this exhibit of large-format Polaroid photographs captures some of the most iconic moments in the history of baseball through the lens of celebrated artist David Levinthal's signature dioramas. Paired with a historical collection from the Avron B. Fogelman Sports Museum, this exhibit looks at the mythical place held by baseball and other sports within American culture. Fundamentally, Levinthal is a collector. He gathers Americana - toys and tchotchkes representing American identity - and photographs them in constructed worlds. He meticulously pursues archetypal topics from his childhood that he examines with analytical research reinforced by his education at Stanford (BA 1970), Yale (MFA 1973), and MIT (MBA, 1981).

Iconic photographer David Levinthal will be on the FAU campus in February for a panel discussion. Check the University Gallery website for more information. Concurrently with this exhibition the Fogelman Sports Museum will also hold a panel discussion on the importance of the Negro Baseball League in American history. fau.edu/galleries

RITTER ART GALLERY

January 18 - March 1, 2024

Celebration Reception: January 18, 2024, 6:30 pm

The Dreams of our Fathers: Environment, Technology & Urban Landscapes gathers artists who use technology as a tool, a subject, or a metaphor in their exploration of our contemporary culture of consumption and growth while reviewing its impact on our landscape. From reflections on the petroleum industry to criticism of industrial processes and their effects on our environment to analyses of migration patterns and suburbia's surreal but nostalgic plastic landscapes, these artists explore the human footprint and its legacy on our world. This curatorial project by University Galleries Director Veronique Côté brings together artists from across the United States and Canada.

THE LADY FROM THE SEA BY HENRIK IBSEN

Directed by Desmond Gallant

Lady from the Sea is a powerful exploration of human desires, personal freedom, and the complexities of love. We follow the story of Ellida Wangel, a woman torn between her duties as a wife and mother and her longing for the freedom of the open sea. This gripping drama delves into themes of self-discovery, societal expectations, and the conflict between personal happiness and societal obligations.

Ibsen's play is a powerful expression of a woman's search for her own identity, in a world where women are defined by who they are with, instead of who they are or who they could become.

ONE MAN, TWO GUVNORS BY RICHARD BEAN
Directed by Lee Soroko

This Tony Award-winning play is a rollicking farce set in Brighton, England in 1963 and is loosely based on Shakespeare's Comedy of Errors and Goldoni's Servant of Two Masters. The production occasionally erupts into live music as it pays homage to the commedia dell'arte tradition while infusing it with modern humor. The story follows the antics of Francis Henshall, an ever-hungry musician who was fired from his band and hired by a small-time East End hood, Roscoe Crabb. Join us as Francis becomes entangled in a web of mistaken identities, and outrageous misunderstandings. Filled with quick-fire dialogue, and physical comedy, this production promises to keep audiences in stitches from beginning to end.

A U.S. Premiere | Directed by Matt Stabile

The great-grandfather of Oregon Book Award-winning playwright Andrea Stolowitz kept a journal for his descendants after escaping to New York City in 1939 as a German Jew. Following the complicated lure of genealogy, Stolowitz goes back to Berlin to bring the story of her unknown ancestors out of the archives into the light. The record keeps as many secrets as it shares; how do people become verschollen, lost, like library books? In this complex, contemporary drama about the search for home, fragmented heritage and Jewish diaspora, two performers scintillate between characters and locations at the border of reality and memory and the intersection of national history and private lives.
