The Summer Institute offered by the Guttermann Family Center for Holocaust and Human Rights Education is a professional learning opportunity for educators teaching grades 5-12. This program focuses on effective instructional practices, educational strategies, and historical content to teach both the history of the Holocaust and ways to inspire change.

The diverse roles that women undertook between 1933 and 1945 will be examined. This encompasses their impact as rescuers, perpetrators, collaborators, resistance fighters, saboteurs, and those engaged in espionage.
