

Public Program

SEPHARDIC COMMUNITIES AND THE HOLOCAUST

Preserving Holocaust
History through Artifacts,
Archives, and Research

These Jewish girls of Moroccan origin lived in France's Los Arenas camp in 1946 while waiting to immigrate to Palestine. US Holocaust Memorial Museum, courtesy of Andre Limot

Wednesday, April 1
7 p.m.

Thursday, April 2
Special Opportunity

Osher Lifelong Learning Institute,
Building 31D, Florida Atlantic University
777 Glades Road, Boca Raton, Florida

This program is free and open to the public, but reservations are required at [ushmm.org/events/
sephardic-communities-boca](https://ushmm.org/events/sephardic-communities-boca). For more information, please contact southeast@ushmm.org or 561-995-6773.

CO-PRESENTERS

ushmm.org/connect

Join us for a discussion about the Museum's Sephardic Communities Initiative, which collects and preserves original artifacts from Sephardic Jews and their descendants. Hear some of the compelling stories that the documents, photographs, and other original materials reveal. Learn how you can play a role in assuring that these stories are preserved for posterity.

SPEAKER

DIANE AFOUMADO, Chief, Research and Reference, National Institute for Holocaust Documentation, United States Holocaust Memorial Museum
AIMEE RUBENSTEIN, Acquisitions Curator, National Institute for Holocaust Documentation, United States Holocaust Memorial Museum

JAIME MONLLOR, International Outreach Officer, National Institute for Holocaust Documentation, United States Holocaust Memorial Museum

As an additional special opportunity on April 2, receive free, in-person family research offered by the Museum's professional staff through the International Tracing Service Digital Collection, which includes millions of pages of deportation lists, displaced persons' registration cards, and other documentation of the Holocaust.

Meetings are 45 minutes and are by appointment only.
Contact the Museum's Southeast Regional Office at 561-995-6773 or southeast@ushmm.org to schedule your appointment.

UNITED STATES
HOLOCAUST
MEMORIAL MUSEUM

100 Raoul Wallenberg Place, SW Washington, DC 20024-2126 ushmm.org/campaign

NEVER AGAIN
WHAT YOU DO MATTERS

THE CAMPAIGN