EMPTY BOWLS – FAU Ceramics and Ceramics Guild of FAU
Tuesday, April 7, 10 am – 2 pm
The Breezeway, FAU Boca Raton campus

Along with countless other artists and organizations around the world, FAU Ceramics and the Ceramics Guild of FAU are doing our part to help end hunger by hosting our annual Empty Bowls event on Tuesday, April 7, 2015 in The Breezeway on the Boca Raton campus from 10 am through 2 pm. Come out and support this community outreach event! Together we can create a positive and lasting change through the arts, education, and community.

Helping celebrate the Empty Bowls Project 25th year, an international grassroots effort to raise both money and awareness in the fight to end hunger, FAU Ceramics and the Ceramics Guild of FAU has created and is donating over 100 handcrafted bowls to serve you a delicious simple meal of soup and bread. Local restaurants along with the Boca Raton Community hospital have donated a variety of soups, and fresh breads. Guests to the event choose a bowl to use that day and to keep as a reminder of all the empty bowls in the world. In exchange for the meal, and the bowl, guests contribute a suggested minimal donation of $10.00. One hundred percent of each meal's proceeds are devoted to Delray Beach charitable organization, The Caring Kitchen.
