ACADEMY FOR COMMUNITY INCLUSION

Post-Secondary Program for People with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities

INDEPENDENCE

GOING TO COLLEGE

Going to college is a common experience for young adults. Attending college has not been an option for many adults with intellectual or development disabilities-until now. The FAU Academy for Community Inclusion offers campus-based post-secondary education and transition programs for students aged 18 or older with intellectual or developmental disabilities.

“Inclusion and accessibility are basic pillars of everyday democracy”

- Michael Briguglio

ACADEMY

FAU Academy for Community Inclusion gives students with intellectual disabilities the opportunity to experience college campus life and all it has to offer: classes, social life, new friendships, recreational activities, career preparation, self-reliance and overall personal growth.

EMPLOYMENT

Inclusive institutions of higher education celebrate intellectual diversity in the same way that they celebrate racial, gender, cultural, religious, and other forms of diversity. They recognize that diverse learners require and inspire pedagogical innovation, and that innovation benefits all students. They place value on experiences and perspectives of others, respect all forms of learning, and provide opportunities for all students to develop to their fullest potential.
