OPEN TO COLLEGE OF EDUCATION DOCTORAL STUDENTS AND FACULTY

Janet Goodman has been an adjunct and assistant professor at four colleges and universities in Georgia and Tennessee teaching classes in special education, behavior analysis, and leadership. She has presented nationally and internationally on inclusion, student outcomes, evidence-based practices in autism, and teacher training, and has publications focused on inclusion and collaboration to improve student achievement and graduation rates. She has managed local, state, and federal grants on literacy, special education, rural education, and improving student achievement totaling more than $82M.

This event will feature Janet Goodman, Ed.D., who currently serves as Interim Superintendent of Pickens County Schools, GA. Goodman has worked in a variety of settings: K-12 special education teacher, director of a community preschool, school administrator, district administrator, Board Certified Behavior Analyst, and interim superintendent in North Georgia.

In this series, invited scholars will engage in a facilitated discussion with doctoral students about varied aspects of academia. The format is informal, allowing for questions and answers about working and thriving in academia.
