Abstract

It is imperative that literacy is promoted for adolescents with disabilities. As there are unique considerations for promoting literacy development for this population within inclusive and self-contained settings, this session will introduce evidence-based literacy interventions that have been proven effective for adolescent students with disabilities. Participants will gain skills that will allow them to critique practices and how to implement best practices for improving the literacy skills of adolescent students with disabilities.

Agenda

6:30-6:40	Introductions
6:40-6:50	HOOT Program Overview
