

Want to improve your program curriculum in early childhood environmental education?
Then join us in...

A National Study of Program Improvement in Early Childhood
Environmental Education

Researchers from Florida Atlantic University invite early childhood centers to be a part of a national study investigating a process for program improvement in early childhood environmental education.

The study is open to all child development centers serving children from birth through five years of age.

Benefits include free educational and self-evaluation materials, professional development support, and opportunities to enhance children's connections and learning in nature.

For an application package, please see

<http://www.coe.fau.edu/faculty/Bhagwanji/nationalstudy.aspx>. Once completed, please save and send it to ybhagwan@fau.edu. Deadline for applications is July 1, 2014.

For additional information, please contact Brenda Boadiger (bboadiger2012@fau.edu) or Yash Bhagwanji (ybhagwan@fau.edu).

A National Study of Program
Improvement in Early Childhood
Environmental Education