Biography

Dr. Robyn Klein is the Coordinator of Student Teaching and Secondary Education for the Department of Curriculum and Instruction in Florida Atlantic University (FAU)'s College of Education. In this position, she oversees the Secondary Education Programs and integrates the Student Teaching Internship. Since joining the university in 2017, Dr. Klein teaches both undergraduate and graduate practicum courses and serves as the Chairperson of the Secondary Teacher Education Coordinating Committee (STECC). In addition, she works with district personnel in Palm Beach and Broward Counties to support students during their internship and after graduation to secure teaching positions.

Dr. Klein brings previous teaching experience in secondary education in middle and high school settings. Prior to FAU Dr. Klein coordinated student placements and teaching internships for the education program of a South Florida college.
