The current document for graduate faculty status in the COE was discussed and an edited version was to be compiled by Mary Lou Duffy and emailed to both Susannah Brown and Deborah Floyd.

Graduate Faculty Status levels A, B, and C for the College of Education were discussed. Susannah Brown discussed the criteria of requiring service on a dissertation committee to completion prior to serving as a chair on a dissertation committee as part of the process for level A status. In order to meet this criterion and reach level A status, some COE faculty must serve outside of their department or college. The GPC members present discussed the importance of serving on a dissertation committee to completion prior to serving as a chair. It was suggested that a clearinghouse of a list of faculty who wish to serve on dissertation committees throughout the COE should be organized and available through the Dean's office for faculty who are chairing the dissertation committees can access faculty who are interested. It was also discussed that in order to reach level A status, faculty must be associate professor or higher. This requirement does not allow assistant professors to chair dissertation committees.

The draft document of the COE Graduate Faculty Status Policy is attached.

Meeting adjourned 12:30pm by Deborah Floyd.
