IMPORTANT

IMMUNIZATION INFORMATION FOR ALL FAU STUDENTS

Many extremely valuable vaccines are available to help prevent certain diseases. Preventing any of the following diseases is highly desirable and is best accomplished with vaccinations. Measles, mumps, rubella (MMR), hepatitis B and meningococcal meningitis (Menactra) vaccines are available to prospective students, prior to registration, at Student Health Services (SHS) located at the Boca Raton, Davie and Jupiter campuses. Titers providing serologic evidence of immunity are also available for measles, mumps, rubella and hepatitis B. Charges for immunizations or titers are billed to the student. Call the campus near you:

FAU Student Health Services
Boca Raton Campus (561) 297-3512
Davie Campus (954) 236-1556 • Jupiter Campus (561) 799-8678

MENINGOCOCCAL MENINGITIS is a rare bacterial infection of the membranes surrounding the brain and spinal cord. It can cause severe neurological damage, loss of limbs, or death. The vaccine Menactra protects 90% of its recipients against four of the five serotypes of bacteria which cause this form of meningitis. Protection is believed to last for a minimum of eight years. People with a history of latex allergy, Guillain-Barré syndrome or previous serious allergic reaction to Menactra should not receive the vaccine. Pregnant women must consult with their physicians prior to receiving Menactra.

HEPATITIS B is a serious viral liver disease that can lead to chronic liver disease, liver cancer or, rarely, death. Hepatitis B vaccine is believed to confer lifelong immunity in most cases. People with a history of life-threatening reaction to baker's yeast or to a previous dose of hepatitis B vaccine should not receive the vaccine. Pregnant women may be vaccinated.

MEASLES is a highly contagious viral infection that can cause ear infection, pneumonia, seizures, brain damage or even death. Pregnant women and people who have ever had a life-threatening reaction to gelatin, neomycin or a previous dose of MMR vaccine should not receive the MMR vaccine.

RUBELLA is a contagious viral infection that causes a rash, mild fever and stiff joints in adults. A pregnant woman who contracts rubella could have a miscarriage or her baby could be born with serious birth defects. Two doses of MMR vaccine can provide long-term, effective protection against these diseases. Anyone who has one of the following should consult with a physician prior to receiving the MMR vaccine: HIV/AIDS or other diseases of the immune system; cancer or is receiving cancer treatment; blood disorders or recent receipt of blood transfusions or blood products. Pregnant women and people who have ever had a life-threatening reaction to gelatin, neomycin or a previous dose of MMR vaccine should not receive the MMR vaccine.

More information about the services provided may be found at www.fau.edu/shs or by calling (561) 297-3512.

Your Student Health Fee, part of the tuition you pay each semester, helps to defray the costs of routine visits. However, fee-for-service charges may also be assessed during your visit. These include, but are not limited to: office visits, lab tests, including blood collection (phlebotomy) procedures, medications, treatments, supplies, immunizations, complete physical examinations, women's and men's health examinations, dental cleanings/x-rays/procedures, diagnostic tests (e.g., EKG, ultrasounds, etc.) and copies of records. These fees are charged to your FAU student account.

OUTSIDE CLINICS, SPECIALISTS AND HOSPITALS

Your Student Health Fee does not apply to any care outside of SHS. Referrals to specialists are made as needed by SHS providers. Students are responsible for payment for these outside services.

FAU COUNSELING AND PSYCHOLOGICAL SERVICES

Please call (561) 297-3540 for further information about services offered at the various locations.

INSURANCE

Students are strongly encouraged to have health insurance coverage. If you are not covered by your family health insurance plan and you want coverage, FAU sponsors an injury and sickness policy for students.
