

Advancing Women in Transportation
FAU Owls Student Chapter

We are pleased to announce that the Women's Transportation Seminar (WTS) at Florida Atlantic University (FAU) has been recently chartered. WTS at FAU has the goal of establishing a college-based student community focusing on advancing women in transportation through professional development workshops, networking, and social events. As an active student and young professionals group, we hope to continue serving the community and reaching out to FAU students and professionals with an interest in transportation. Active members, either women and men, can work together and benefit each other in their careers. We hope to facilitate students towards their future success.

Everyone is welcome to join and get involved with WTS at FAU! Check out our announcements and future activities, meetings, and events, and support us by becoming a WTS @ FAU member. For this, first you should be an active WTS International Member.
