Hi Everyone,

I am requesting that you take a moment and review the attached syllabi and indicate whether you believe there to be a conflict.

I believe that at some level, these two courses have been through this process, but it needs to occur again.

EME6624 is the current DETA II course.
EDG6345 is the graduate course comparable to EDG4343 which is an approved course in the department.

Thank you in advance for your feedback and assistance.

Barbara

I reviewed the syllabi for your proposed courses: EME 6624 and EDG 6345. Neither course overlaps or conflicts with the courses or program in the ESE Department. Good luck with the courses.

Barbara, our department does not have a conflict with either of the two courses.

EME6624 is the current DETA II course.
EDG6345 is the graduate course comparable to EDG4343 which is an approved course in the department.

Regards, Sue

Barbara:

Thank you for the lovely note. The Department of Curriculum, Culture, and Educational Inquiry has no conflict with EDG 6345, as it was revised at the meeting on Wednesday, or with EME 6624. I, too, enjoyed our discussion and look forward to even greater collaboration between our departments. Take care.
