FALL REGISTRATION IS NOW OPEN!

Classes will be available as recorded lectures and live on Zoom. To view upcoming fall semester lectures and courses, visit www.fau.edu/osherrjupiter

SPECIAL FALL ZOOM LECTURES

“The Vice Presidency: Is It Relevant?” Ralph Nurnberger, Ph.D.
Thursday, October 15, 2020 at 2 p.m.
Lecture: #F1RA – Live Zoom Class
$30/member; $35/non-member

Ralph Nurnberger, Ph.D., will focus on two issues regarding the Vice Presidency. First, he will discuss the historic and substantive role of the Vice President. The nation’s first Vice President, John Adams, wrote: “My country has in its wisdom contrived the most insignificant office that ever the invention of man contrived, or his imagination conceived.” How has this office developed over the course of American history? The second topic deals with the role of Vice-Presidential candidates on national tickets. He will provide details on how the candidates are chosen and whether it matters who is selected to run for Vice President. A recent nominee for Vice President stated: “Remember, no one decides who they are going to vote for based on the Vice President.”

“Post-Election Analysis”
Ralph Nurnberger, Ph.D.
Thursday, November 12, 2020 at 3 p.m.
Lecture: #F1RB – Live Zoom Class
$30/member; $35/non-member

Only days after the election is completed, Ralph Nurnberger, Ph.D., will discuss the results of the Presidential and Congressional elections. This presentation will provide an up to the minute analysis of the status of the 2020 elections. But, even nine days after the polls have closed, it is possible that we may not know the winner of the Presidential and Congressional elections. The final results may not be known for days, and even weeks, after November 3; likely leading to protests and court challenges. In four previous presidential elections the electoral college results remained inconclusive for many weeks, leading to periods of unrest before final decisions were reached.