2021 OLLI JUPITER SPRING/SUMMER SEMESTER IS 100% ONLINE

Dear Jupiter Osher Lifelong Learning Members:

The Osher Lifelong Learning Institute (OLLI) at Florida Atlantic University (FAU), like education, entertainment, and fine arts organizations throughout the country, has been challenged by the COVID-19 pandemic. Although we are the premier education institution for thousands of seniors in Palm Beach and surrounding counties, we had to learn almost overnight how to convert in-person lectures and courses for our members to a virtual format. With many households doubling up on Zoom, others preferring to wait for the social aspect of in-person classes, and some just uncomfortable with online learning this has been a difficult time.

Although the impact of the foregoing has reduced our bottom-line, it has not diminished the effort of our faculty, staff, and advisory board to bring as much education, entertainment, and enjoyment as possible to our members. Understanding this financial situation, many of our members have been generous in contributing to our COVID appeal, to sponsoring special lectures and to providing programmatic donations.

Our Spring/Summer season, beginning on Thursday, March 25, 2021, has a number of outstanding lectures and courses offered by a number of our most popular instructors. We look forward to seeing all of you in-person, hopefully in the fall. In the meantime, we are committed to remaining the largest OLLI program in the country and, even more important, offering the most diverse and interesting classes.

As most of you are aware, the OLLI at FAU Jupiter program is completely self-funded. We receive no funds from the university nor from the state of Florida. Thus, if we are to remain a pre-eminent adult education program, we'll continue to need your donations, sponsorships, and class registrations. It is your attendance and financial support that make this possible, so we greatly appreciate your commitment to OLLI at FAU Jupiter's program.

WHAT ARE LIVE ZOOM CLASSES?

Zoom is a videoconferencing platform that provides interactive tools and telephone conferencing for communication and collaboration. Zoom is the conferencing software that Florida Atlantic University's Office of Information Technology supports and OLLI uses.

WHAT DO I NEED TO JOIN AN ONLINE ZOOM CLASS?

- Anyone can use Zoom via laptop or desktop (Windows or Mac), tablet and smartphone (iPhone or Android). Once you register for the class, OLLI will send an email with a link for that class meeting. (Each meeting has its own unique link and meeting ID. Do not share the link.)
- If you are using a laptop or desktop, the first time you click on a link it will download a free and secure program to your computer.
- If you are using a tablet or smartphone, you'll need to download the free and secure Zoom application from your app store.
- From your device, click on the link provided in the email OLLI sent to you to access your class.
- Once you are connected, you will be in a virtual waiting room while the host verifies you are registered for the class. Please be patient. Now is a good time to check your audio/video. When you have been admitted to the class, you will see others and your audio will be muted.

HOW DO I JOIN AN ONLINE CLASS USING ZOOM?

If you have access to a computer or mobile device, you can use the full capabilities of Zoom. There are several ways to join an online class using Zoom.

The following equipment will enhance your experience, but is not necessary.

- Web camera: A camera will increase your connection with your instructor and your peers by allowing you to see each other's faces. If you do not have access to a web camera, you will still be able to see the instructor.
- Headset with a microphone: This will let you hear and be heard more clearly. This does not need to be fancy equipment; it can be the headphones you might use with your phone.
- Charger: Charging your device during class will ensure you do not have an unexpected power outage interrupt your viewing.

ZOOM CLASSROOM ETIQUETTE

- Please connect 20 minutes prior to the start of the class so you are ready when the class begins.
- Keep your audio on mute unless you are called on to speak.
- Use the communication tools: chat, thumbs up, applause, answer poll questions.
- Remember, this is a new way for us to learn. Please be patient with yourself and others. If you decide to turn on your web camera, please remember that the instructor and your peers will be able to see you.

OBJECTION! Current Contentious and Confusing Legal Battles

Irving Labovitz, J.D.

TV shows and films about the law make the legal profession seem exciting and glamorous. Discover how real law can be even more stimulating than its dramatic facsimile. This series continues to focus on selected current, highly publicized, volatile and contentious legal and constitutional issues presented in important selected cases pending before, or just decided by, federal and state trial and appellate courts, as well as the U.S. Supreme Court.

Until we can return to interactive in-person discussions, OLLI's new Zoom platform has permitted us to seek continuing stimulating interactive colloquy upon newly emerging important and contentious developing legal issues to better understand the often disparate and confusing legal positions of all opposing parties in contentious and vitally important topics affecting us, our families, and our Nation.

In this context, I anticipate this Spring semester will continue our considerations of: a post-Trump legal and Constitutional environment in both national and international settings; emerging legal and Constitutional conundrums involving both Mr. Trump, as well as his many associates, in both Federal and State court environments; expected emerging material conflicts amongst trial and appellate federal courts resulting from disparate judicial viewpoints by a plethora of recently appointed federal judges; and many more issues implicated by the apparent increasingly polarized views of our Supreme Court justices.

New enrollees are invited to attend and view a pre-lecture primer at 2 p.m. on Thursday, March 25, 2021, outlining the structure of federal and state appellate court processes. Returning participants are also always welcome to attend.

Please note that this is a Live Zoom Class and will also be available for OLLI Video On Demand.

Lillian Leitzel: Lady of Daring

Taylor Hagood, Ph.D.

LLS Boca Distinguished Professor of Arts and Letters 2013–2014

Lillian Leitzel was one of the greatest — perhaps the greatest — circus performers ever to live. A premier draw of Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey's golden age, she commanded top billing and tremendous visibility, exploiting the circus as a space where societal norms could be challenged and outraged at the very delight and thrill of audiences. Physically small, she had an immense and fiery personality, and in her death-defying feats she kept spectators riveted. This lecture presents the life of this important woman in history, from her career to her fairy-tale romance to her spectacular and tragic end.

Please note that this is a Live Zoom Class and will also be available for OLLI Video On Demand.

The Biden Administration, Israel and the Arab States: Prospects and Challenges

Generously Sponsored by Donald and Judy Smith.

Robert Rabil, Ph.D.

LLS Jupiter Distinguished Faculty Award 2010; LLS Boca Distinguished Professor of Current Affairs (2012–13, 2018–19)

The Biden administration faces new developments, changes and constant challenges brewing in the Middle East. True, the Abraham Accords were the signature achievement of the Trump Administration, yet many regional issues have remained alarming and perilous, ranging from terrorism, human rights violations, inter and intra-Arab conflicts, to Arab-Israeli conflicts. How will the Biden administration bilaterally and multilaterally approach the Arab states, Israel and the Palestinians? This lecture underscores the prospects and challenges facing the Biden Administration and ponders its approach to them.

This is a pre-recorded class. If you would like to ask the instructor a question following your viewing of the video, please email ollijupiter@fau.edu

The Jews of the Silk Road and China: Discovering the Diasporas that Changed the Western World

Wes Ervin, Ph.D.

Why did Jews establish diaspora communities? The usual short answer is that they were fleeing persecution. Indeed, that was often the case in Europe. But when Jews ventured eastward to Asia, they were more often bold pioneers chasing economic opportunity. In this lecture, Dr. Ervin develops that theme by exploring the fascinating thousand-year history of the Jewish diasporas of the Silk Road, the network of trans-Asian trade routes that connected China and Europe since Biblical times. Every major trading city along the 7,000-mile caravan route had a thriving Jewish community. These Mizrahi (or "Eastern Jews") spoke Arabic, Persian, and Bukhari as their native languages and were tightly-knit with the Muslim and Christian trading communities. For 1500 years, the Jews transported silk, gems and other luxury goods from the Chinese superpower to a more backward Europe. But much more important in the long run, they brought advanced Indian, Chinese, Arabic, and Persian science, technology, mathematics, and medicines to the West.

The speaker will focus on the critical role that the Silk Road Jews played in inventing key financial inventions that facilitated the birth of capitalism in Renaissance Europe (decimal number system, advanced algebra, the first checks, long-distance banking, etc.). With the advent of long-distance sea trade in the 16th century, the overland Silk Road trade gradually declined. But the Jewish diaspora communities remained and adapted. In some respects, they were more progressive than the Ashkenazi shtetls of Eastern Europe; for example, Jewish girls in Samarkand went to their own yeshiva, while Yentl had to disguise herself as a boy to learn Torah. Even in their faded glory today, the legendary Silk Road cities have a haunting beauty that is breathtaking to behold.

The Royals' Family Feud: William, Harry and More

Margery Marcus, Ed.D.

Ever since Harry introduced Meghan (no last names needed) into the Royals' inner circle, the British tabloids have feasted on potential rifts between the Windsor brothers and their wives. Did Meghan make Kate cry? Did Kate snub Meghan? Will Harry and Meghan ever return to the Royal fold? Feuds between siblings are not new to the Royals, however. Back as far as the 16th century, Mary Tudor imprisoned sister Elizabeth; Elizabeth I later condemned cousin Mary Stuart to the chopping block. We all know the Windsor "problem" of 1936: Edward abdicated for his great love, and brother George unwillingly inherited a crown. Now the younger Windsors play out their relationship in the press. Join Dr. Margery Marcus for a realistic appraisal of family feuding among the Windsors, including a shout-out to the popular Netflix series The Crown. What does the show get right? And wrong? This colorful PowerPoint lecture examines the facts, the fiction, and the future of the British Royal Family.

Marbury v. Madison

Bruce Reinhart, J.D.

Most people have heard about the famous Supreme Court case Marbury v. Madison, but very few people know what the case was about. In addition to being a fascinating historical story about a fight between Adams and Jefferson, it has a lot of parallels today — the use of the federal judiciary to embed a governmental philosophy that will last long after the appointing President is gone, the limited power of the federal courts to resolve political fights between other branches of Government, and the power of the federal courts to strike down acts of Congress. Within the last three years, during a Supreme Court oral argument, Justice Kennedy asked the lawyer if Marbury was correctly decided — in a case involving whether the Supreme Court had the power to hear an appeal from the Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces! So, Marbury is a lot more than a case citation in legal history.

Lobbying in America

Ralph Nurnberger, Ph.D., and Justin Gray, J.D.

"Lobbying" is a term used to describe efforts by an individual or group of individuals to influence decisions made by government officials. Justin Gray and Ralph Nurnberger, who have combined experiences of over half-a-century as Washington lobbyists, will present a "behind the scenes" analysis of this frequently discussed, but often misunderstood craft. They will provide a history of lobbying, the nature of how lobbying in Washington has evolved over the years, and the differences between representing domestic and foreign interests. They will provide specific examples of matters they have successfully lobbied in Washington.

How is the Biden Administration Doing?

Ralph Nurnberger, Ph.D., and Justin Gray, J.D.

Former New York City Mayor Ed Koch famously used to ask: "So how am I doing?" Longtime time Washington "insiders," Justin Gray and Ralph Nurnberger, will return to OLLI at FAU Jupiter to provide answers to the same question, only this time as it relates to the Biden Administration's first months. They will analyze how the new Administration has dealt with the nation's problems, both foreign and domestic, as well as how they have managed to deal with the Congress.
