

Undergraduate Research Flight Plan – Med Direct Scholars

Year 1:

- Visit OURI (GS 212) and meet an OURI peer mentor – discussion of how to get started in research
- Register for the OURI List serve to keep abreast of undergraduate research opportunities
- Attend two OURI workshops including how to get started in research
- Attend the OURI Undergraduate Research Symposium in Spring
- Complete CITI training – Responsible Conduct of Research (RCR) modules
- Become an AMSA FAU member – student club

Year 2:

- Identify faculty research mentor and begin working with them in research
- Complete other research training as discussed with faculty mentor
- Work with faculty mentor to apply for an OURI Undergraduate Research Grant or the FAU WAVE Competition.
- Participate in a Spring break alternative or mission trip (service/community) project

Year 3:

- Continue working with faculty mentor in research
- Apply for an internal/external summer research experience for undergraduates
 - OURI Summer Undergraduate Research Fellowship
 - NSF Research Experience for Undergraduates
 - Other research funding opportunities
- Present at the Undergraduate Research Symposium (consult with your faculty mentor)
- Shadowing medical professionals

Year 4:

- Present your research at a regional or national conference (consult with your faculty mentor)
- Consider submitting a publication on your research through the Florida Atlantic Undergraduate Research Journal or other regional and national journals ((consult with your faculty mentor))
- Shadowing medical professionals (as appropriate)

Contact Information:

College of Medicine Faculty Undergraduate Research Liaison:

Dr. Ceylan Isgor
Email: CISGOR@health.fau.edu

Office of Undergraduate Research and Inquiry (OURI):

Dr. Donna Chamely-Wiik
Location: General Classrooms South GS suite 212
Email: dchamely@fau.edu; or ouri@fau.edu

Phone: 561-297-OURI [6874]