

PostDoc

Career Talk Webinar Series

THE PURPOSE OF YOUR UNIQUE CAREER PATH

ANDIA CHAVES FONNEGRA, PH.D.

Assistant Professor of Biology,
Harriet L. Wilkes Honors College
Harbor Branch Oceanographic Institute

Join Andia Chaves Fonnegra, Ph.D., as she talks about her unique journey that has led to her new academic position at FAU. As an early career faculty member, she will discuss her recent experience entering the academic workforce. Fonnegra has a doctorate degree in marine biology/oceanography from Nova Southeastern University, and is also the manager of the Laboratory of Integrative Marine and Coastal Ecology at Harbor Branch Oceanographic Institute. She is a 2019 Early-Career Research Fellow by the Gulf Research Program of the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering and Medicine, and she was a 2011 L'Oréal-UNESCO For Women in Science International Fellow.

HOST

Lorena Areal, Ph.D., President of FAU's Postdoc Association

TIME

4 TO 5 P.M.

WHEN

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 3

PLEASE PRE-REGISTER FOR THIS EVENT BY VISITING THE ZOOM LINK:
bit.ly/2yHvQgw

Be sure to bring your questions! Walk away with valuable career-building tips, lessons and skills to enhance your own academic job search process, interviewing, teaching, research and balancing it all.

This series is a co-creation of the Office of Postdoc Affairs (OPA) and the FAU's Postdoc Association.*