

SEEDS - FAU

(Strategies for Ecology Education, Diversity & Sustainability)

WHAT: Bioblitz FAU

WHERE: Ecological Preserve

WHEN: April 6, 2012

9am to 9am, a 24-hr event

The Bioblitz is a 24 - hour, community driven scientific study of the Ecological Preserve at FAU. The idea is to sample as many different plant, fungi, lichen, invertebrate, and (photo document) vertebrate species that we can. We are working with National Geographic, Earth-Trek (a citizen science organization), and SEEDS campus chapters nationally to share data. We are also inviting local secondary schools and organizations to participate.

Nature exists in our backyards!

Come on out and support this natural area at FAU
