

CAN YOU HELP?

Do you have an idea to help combat the effects of COVID19?

COVID 19
CHALLENGE
COMPETITION

Enter our COVID 19 Challenge Competition!

The Division of Research wants to hear your ideas in the following two categories:

Clinical/Research:

How can we help physicians, researchers and healthcare workers meet the demands of the COVID19 outbreak? How can they adapt or better respond to this pandemic?

Social Science/Education:

Social distancing has affected all of us. From the lack of visitors in hospitals and nursing homes, to being self-quarantined with nowhere to go. How can we help mitigate these stressors while staying connected as a community?

This challenge has two parts!

1. A pre-proposal stage-submit a very brief summary of the problem that you will address and your solution. Judge's will review based on feasibility, potential for implementation and potential impact.
2. Those who pass the first stage will be invited to submit full proposals with a more detailed description, be provided support with implementation (as needed) and cash prizes are awarded based on best overall idea/execution/positive impact.

The top two projects in each category will be awarded a cash prize.

1st Place wins $2,000 per team to start the project

2nd Place wins $1,000 per team/project to start the project
