Hi Oliver,

Yes, these are undergraduate workshops for Honors College students in the Harriet L. Wilkes Honors College on the Jupiter campus—though English department students from any campus would be welcome to come to our campus and take them, they would just need instructor permission. We usually cap these classes at 22 students and average 18 to 20. I've attached sample syllabi for both. Both courses have been taught twice as special topics courses, so if we are to offer them again we need to offer them as separate courses with their own course numbers.

Thank you for your help!

Dear Rachel,

I have asked our Creative writing director for her thoughts.

Can you send me syllabi for these courses, that would be helpful.

I assume these are workshops? What is the class size/cap?

Best wishes,

Oliver

Subject: Approval for New Wilkes Honors College Creative Writing Courses

Dear Professor Buckton,

I have proposed two new creative writing courses to be taught here in the Wilkes Honors College. They have received the approval of our curriculum committee but before they can be sent to the university committees we need to receive approval from you as the Chair of the English department. Do you object to the Honors College offering:

CRW 4122 Honors Writing the Novel

CRW 4123 Honors Science Fiction and Fantasy

If you do not object to our offering these courses, you can simply reply "We do not object." If you have any questions or need further information, I am happy to provide it.

Thank you for your help.

Best,
