I agree with the section of eliminating the course for Latin, Asian, and African history and putting it under American history and with Rina's suggestion to replace the INR course for the GEA course.

Best,
Miriam

Subject: Social Science Education 6-12 Program Updates

Hi Miriam,

Rina and I have been working on making changes to the Social Science Education 6-12 program to meet the needs of our students. Please reply with your thoughts on these changes.

Updates:

We would like to remove the following courses from Latin, Asian, African History section:

- AMH 3571 African Amer. History to 1877
- AMH 3572 African Amer. History since 1877

These courses are still options for American History. Since these two courses are currently offered in both Latin, Asian, African History and then also in American History, students are taking ONE course to fulfill two different areas. Students are under the impression that the courses DO fulfill both content area sections. The end result has been some students becoming credits short for graduation and needing to add an additional course at the end of their programs. Removing these courses from one section will allow the courses to still be an option for students.

Replacement course for Latin, Asian, African History

- AFH 3512 History of African Diaspora

In (Geography), the two courses listed are:

- GEA 2000 World Geography
- GEA 3190 World Env., People, and Places

Since GEA 3190 is rarely offered (if ever), Rina has recommended we replace it with INR 3502 International Organization.

You can see the highlights on the Information Sheet attached. Again, please let us know your thoughts as soon as possible.

Thanks!

Robyn
