Hi Rachel,

I approve. I would note, though, that the continuation of the Primate Behavior course in ANT is up in the air. Kate Detwiler this semester transferred to Bio department. We're hiring a new tenure track bioanth, but it's unlikely we'll have a primatologist. It remains to be seen if Kate will develop a primate course over in Bio, with which the anthro version would be cross-listed.

Best, Mike

Subject: New Approval Request

Hi Michael. I am writing again to request your approval to more modifications we made to the biological anthropology concentration at the Honors College. You approved previous changes, but we have now added a list of courses from your department that students may choose as an elective. We have added the following courses:

ANT 3586 Human Evolution

ANT 3516 Human Variation

ANT 4552 Primate Behavior

ANT 4520 Forensic Anthropology

ANT 4463 Environment and Disease

ANT 4192 Research Methods in Bioarchaeology

I'm attaching the proposed concentration for you to see. Please email me as soon as you can to state your approval or objections.

Thank you!

Rachel
