Hello Rachel,

I reviewed the syllabus and materials for your course. The course number, title, catalog description and learning outcomes are identical to the Boca section of the course so it is not considered a new course or a course change. The stated Honors Distinction associated with the course requires interdisciplinary connections, external creative and cognitive work, and upper-level writing. These are not in conflict with the previously approved MGF 1130 course. The syllabus also appropriately identifies the CCC gen ed outcomes.

Offering an additional section of an existing course does not require approval from the CCC.

I am CC'ing Dean Meeroff to ensure there are no additional concerns regarding Gordon approval or UUPC requirements.

Regards,

T.
