

Minor in Diversity and Global Studies - Electives

While the intention of the minor in Diversity and Global Studies is to be inclusive of multiple disciplines, the following guidelines on the selection of electives will apply.

Students, in consultation with their academic advisor, may select two courses already included as part of their approved program of study that fulfill the following three criteria* in their learning objectives:

- (1) Gain an understanding of structural and institutional hierarchies based on one or more of the social categories of race, class, gender, ethnicity, nationality, religion, sexuality, age, and abilities/disabilities explored within diverse local/ global contexts
- (2) Think critically, and with an open mind, about controversial contemporary and historical issues that stem from the social categories described above within local/ global contexts
- (3) Develop responsible citizens by examining the ways power and privilege affect human lives and providing pathways to meaningful and positive change

OR:

Students may select from any of the following restricted electives:

EDF 3610 – Education in a Multicultural Society
EDF 3203 – Equity Issues in Multicultural Education
INR 4075 – Politics of Human Rights
INR 4350 – Global Environmental Politics and Policies
PAX 3001 – Introduction to Peace Studies
WST 4113 – Women’s International Human Rights

SPC 4712 – Gender Race and Communication
MMC 4301 – International Communication
SYP 4453 – Global Social Change
SYP 4454 – Globalization and Social Movements
ANT 4274 – Anthropology of Politics
ANT 4409 – Anthropology of Peace and Violence

* Criteria established by the Diversity Council, adapted for global contexts.

 Additional courses open to students of multiple majors are welcome for consideration.